MAY INDICT SOME FAIRMONT BANKERS

Grand Jurors Seriously Considering Advisability of Returning Indictments.

FAIRMONT, Nov. 13.—After returning a number of indictments yesterday afternoon as a result of its investigations which started last Monday, the Marion county grand jury reported that much work still remained unfinished and Judge W. S. Raymond ordered the jury to report again Monday to complete its task.

In view of Judge Raymond's positive instructions last Monday regarding what constitutes a violation of the state law on the part of officials and employees of a banking institution it is believed that the grand jurors are seriously considering the advisability of returning indictments against prominent men connected with local banks which have recently closed their doors.

Two indictments for murder were returned by the jury Friday, one against Joseph Raber, of Mannington, for the killing of his brother, Luther Raber, and another against Anthony Capillo, Frank Calderazzo, Phillip Toscano, Frank Politano, Anthony Borgese and Nicholas Dimanni for the killing of Anthony Schepis, a young East Side workman. Joseph Raber is confined in the county jail but the Italians charged with the murder of Schepis fled shortly before the body of the murdered man was found and have not been apprehended. A number of indictments for less serious offenses were also returned yesterday.

A contract between the city of Fairmont and the Monongahela Valley Traction Company for the lighting of the city streets at a cost of approximately $15,000 a year was approved yesterday by the board of affairs and signed by Mayor Anthony Bowen. The contract provides for 270 luminous arc lights at a cost of $52.25 a year each and thirty luminous arc lights to be turned out at midnight at $40 each. The midnight lamps are a parting of lighting system of Main street which will be converted into a "Great White Way." The old lighting of Fairmont includes 149 arc lights for which the city is paying $55 a year each, twenty-one incandescent lights and fifty or sixty gas lights.

A disastrous slip causing damage estimated at thousands of dollars has occurred in Washington street north of Madison street during the last week. The street in one place dropped more than four feet. Long jagged cracks three to four inches wide appeared in the three story brick warehouse belonging to Harvey Shain. The two story frame dwelling of Vito Delligatti was endangered to such an extent that the family sat up an entire night expecting at any time to be compelled to flee. Water from an abandoned coal mine is believed to be responsible for the slide. A quantity of dirt fell to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks and civil engineers in the employ of the railroad company have held several conferences with city officials regarding the best methods of preventing further slides.

Mayor Anthony Bowen has issued a Thanksgiving proclamation which calls upon the people of Fairmont to join in religious observance of the day and to decorate the stores and residences of the city in honor of the participants in the football game scheduled to be played in Fairmont between the University of West Virginia and Wesleyan on Thanksgiving day.

More than 200 Marion county school teachers went to Morgantown to attend the sessions of the Monongahela Valley Round Table Association.

William Padden, formerly a resident of Farmington in Danville, Ill., Thursday from a fracture of the skull received when he was struck by an automobile. The body will be brought to Fairmont Monday for interment in the Holy Cross cemetery.

Funeral services over the body of Elmore B. Robertson, who died Tuesday were held Thursday at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Josephine Robertson on Monroe street. The body was taken to Curwinstown, Pa., for interment.

The selection of Huntington as the next convention city, the election of T. W. Hennen, of Fairmont, grand master of the Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of West Virginia, and the election of A. B. C. Bray, of Roncove, grand high priest of the Royal Arch Masons, were among the important events of the four-day session here of the various Masonic fraternities throughout the state.

The big gathering of Masons ended Thursday evening with a banquet served in the Masonic hall by 100 Masons to 650 visiting delegates. E. M. Showalter, of Fairmont, was toastmaster. The speakers included E. A. Clark, of Buckhannon; W. T. Lee, of Philippi; O. S. McKinney, of Fairmont; William E. Krupp, of Wheeling; Judge L. N. Tavenner, of Parkersburg; and former Governor George W. Atkinson, of Washington. Dr. B. N. Gamble, past grand high priest, fell on a sidewalk while attending the convention and sustained a broken wrist.

Worley Straight sustained a broken arm and Mrs. Straight a broken leg when they were thrown from a buggy near their home in Rivesville.

Alice Hunt, aged 14; C. E. Hunt, Jr., aged 5; Opal May Hunt, aged 9; and Thelma Hunt, aged 7, the four children of C. E. Hunt, Sr., formerly a baker in Fairmont, were burned to death in their home at Austen near Grafton this week. The bodies were brought to Fairmont and after funeral services in the Methodist Protestant church, were interred in the Maple Grove cemetery. The parents of the victims say that Alice, the eldest girl, was attacked by several Italians two weeks before the disastrous fire. Officers are investigating the charges against the Italians.

Park avenue, Barney street and Cherry avenue will be called Wheeling avenue throughout its entire length. Pike street will be called Pennsylvania avenue, and several others changes will be made in Fairmont street names according to a recent decision of the board of affairs.

As soon as the new jail is completed Mayor Anthony Bowen plans to have prisoners convicted in his court work out their sentences cleaning the city streets.

MAY INDICT—GALLEY TWO
The Fairmont Political Equality club at a recent meeting elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. Edith Hawker; vice president, Mrs. Anna Cunningham; secretary, Miss Jennie Fleming; and treasurer, Mrs. Jessie Manley. A score or more of delegates to the state convention which will be held at Huntington November 16, 17 and 18 were elected.

Skin grafting probably will be necessary to insure the recovery of Charles Mannon, Jr., aged 9, who was seriously burned in his East Side home recently.

Joseph Spadifore, a handsome Italian, was ordered to pay a fine of $20 and costs by Justice of the Peace M. R. Musgrove for calling to frequently on Mrs. Sarah Beisitt, a handsome blond matron of Diamond street, in the absence of her husband.

Twenty-five silos have been built by the farmers of Marion county during the last year.

The Presbyterian congregation will hold a centennial celebration for one week beginning Sunday, November 14.

Members of the Fairmont chamber of commerce are discussing the advisability of an industrial booster day celebration to be held soon and to include an excursion to Pittsburgh over the new Monongahela railroad.

WEB-FOOTED, HE CAN'T JOIN MARINES

Frank Leque Might Get Job as a Traffic Cop in Venice.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Because a thin membranous filament connecting his toes made him web-footed, Frank Leque, Heltsville, L. I., thought he would make a splendid recruit for that semi-aquatic organization, the United States marine corps, and was keenly disappointed when Sergeant George B. McGee, in charge of the local recruiting station, rejected him for that very reason. Now Leque believes that if Uncle Sam can't use a man duck, he still has a mission in life, and is contemplating applying for a position as traffic "cop" in the city of unhealed leaks—Venice.

Sergeant McGee of the marines was loath to reject Leque for what he was pleased to term "duckitis," and he had momentary visions of the Long Island recruit being trained actually to walk on the water and so in time to hurdle hot foot over hissing combers from one vessel to another to deliver his "Don't give up the ship, boys" messages from the admiral.

But perfect feet are absolutely essential to marines, and since the corps is usually filled up to maximum strength with exceptionally well developed men, the web-footed one was told that he wouldn't do. Now nothing remains for him to do except to join the Venetian traffic squad, or, as another rejected applicant told him, "acquire water on the knee and a floating kidney with your other accomplishments and you could enter the Patagonian navy."

CANOPIED BEET

Is Scene of Hen's Nest and Its Chickens Are Red.

LEAD HILL, Ark., Nov. 13.—J. B. Bell, cashier of the bank of Lead Hill, raised beets in his garden this year, and one beet in particular grew to be very large. As it grew the leaves of the side curled over and downward in such a way that a hollow was formed just above the center of the beet. The leaves of the other side grew upward and curled over the hollow, forming a canopy. An old hen found this sheltered nest and laid and hatched there in fourteen eggs. The chickens are now "up and around," and each of them is of flaming red color, according to report.
